Visits Out Of The Care Home

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/arrangements-for-visiting-out-of-the-care-home/visits-out-of-care-homes>

Key things to consider...

- ▶ Discuss your current position and what your future plans are with staff, residents and family members.
- ▶ Plan what options you can make available, or what the building can accommodate.
- ▶ Set out clear visiting rules for staff, residents and family members
- ▶ Do not rush, only facilitate visiting on a level that you and the home can safely provide, this will allow visiting to continue
- ▶ Slowly support (with decrease or increase meeting dependent on issues/success)
- ▶ Please ask for support when you need it, the Covid-19 Support Team is here to help you; 01274 431999.

Communication...

There are a number of options available in order to keep staff, residents and family members updated on your current visiting availability...

- ▶ Emails – This will allow one message to be sent simultaneously to a number of people, but very little space for people to discuss this before it is confirmed.
- ▶ Telephone – Although this will be done one-to-one, the message can be discussed on a personal level with each individual, sometimes allowing you to go into further depth to provide more rationale on why you've decided on the message you have chosen.
- ▶ Face to Face – This would currently be reserved for staff and residents, consider IPC and Social Distance protocols when using this form of communication. This is usually the preferred choice, as discussions over the phone or in text can sometimes be miscommunicated.
- ▶ Virtual – Similar to face to face, but allows this to take place safely and with all parties at once. Can lead to a healthy discussion and sometimes allow others to interpret your message and rephrase it in a way others can understand.

Always consider the message you wish to send out, allowing any discussions to take place and providing any easy way for people to feedback, for example, if you wish to feedback on this guidance, please contact the team through Covid19SupportTeam@bradford.gov.uk.

Visiting options..

Please note, this will depend on both the grounds and the type of building your care home uses...

Outdoor – Garden, open shelter, enclosed shelter

Garden

The visitor and resident can meet within the grounds, or garden, of the home, adhering to social distancing rules. This will be weather dependent, but would mitigate the risk of the spread of infection during the visit.

Open Shelter

This would be a roofed shelter without any walls, for example a gazebo, this would allow the visitor and resident to socially distance, much like a garden visit, but would also offer limited protection from the weather.

Enclosed Shelter

This would be a sheltered visit, such as a visiting pod, where the resident and visitor would be separated by a screen or socially distance from each other, the visitor would be required to wear PPE to reduce the chance of the spread of infection.

Indoor – screened, designated visiting room, resident’s room

Screened

This would require a large single screen to be in place within the room, preferably with the visitor entering from outside the care home. The screen would have to reach from the floor to the ceiling and not have any gaps present, completely separating the visitor from the resident.

Designated Visiting Room

This would be a single room dedicated to visits, preferably accessible by the visitor from outside the home. The room would either need a partition or be large enough for the visitor and resident to socially distance from each other. The furniture within the room would have to be easily cleaned between each visit to prevent any chance for a spread of infection. Should your home be able to facilitate this, the room should ventilate easily, allowing air in and out, between each visit.

Resident’s Room

This would be reserved for end of life, exceptional circumstance and essential care giver visits, where the resident would potentially be bed bound or require care in their room. Risk assessments would need to be in place and the visitor aware of their role and responsibility to protect staff and residents through adherence to PPE and IPC procedures.

Drive-Through

The visitor would park up in their car whilst the resident sits outside of the car. This type of visiting is weather dependant and will also be determined by the safety needs of the resident. With drive-thru visiting, the essential family/friend/carer wouldn't be able to get out of the car and would need to keep 2m distance.

Window Visits

There would need to be a distance of 2m between the essential family/friend/carer and the resident as, although not in direct company, other ways of supporting communication such as portable phone handsets can be used so the window can stay closed.

Testing for...

Nominated Individuals

1 Lateral Flow Test on the day of the visit, they will need to submit to testing on the door or provide evidence of a test at home, they require a negative test result before they are permitted to enter the home.

Essential Care Givers

1 PCR and 2 Lateral Flow Tests per week, they will be considered as a member of the workforce, requiring the same level as testing as your staff. Should staff be subject to additional testing, for example, rapid response daily testing or outbreak testing, they must also be included in these tests.

Exceptional Circumstance visits

1 Lateral Flow Test on the day of the visit, again requiring a negative result before they are permitted to enter the home.

All (the 90 day rule)

visitors who have recently tested positive for COVID-19 should not be retested within 90 days unless they develop new symptoms. These visitors should use the result of their positive PCR result to show that they are currently exempt from testing until the 90-day period is over.

Testing options for visitors...

Now that visitors are allowed to test at home before they visit, you should consider any additional risks that may arise from testing off site, as well as the confidence and ability of visitors to carry out tests away from the care home. This to consider would be:

- ▶ Visitors inaccurately conducting lateral flow testing on themselves
- ▶ Visitors inaccurately recording the result of their test
- ▶ The increased risk of visitors needing to take public transport to a testing site, particularly where it is far from the setting, or coming into contact with other people
- ▶ Visitors may not have a mobile phone or email address to receive the result of their test

For visitors that could self-test at home before a visit, you may wish to supervise the some self-tests on site beforehand. Providing support to ensure visitors are able to carry out the tests correctly.

All testing must be done on the day of the visit. Once the visitor has reported the test, they will receive confirmation of their result by text message (SMS) and/or email to show proof of result. Visitors must show proof of a negative test result before every visit, such as:

- ▶ An email or text from NHS Test and Trace
- ▶ A date-stamped photo of the test cartridge itself

Rules for visitors...

Nominated Individuals

Visitors should wear appropriate PPE, as laid out in the guidance which can be found HERE. This guidance sets out the appropriate levels of PPE for a range of scenarios, such as being in physical contact with a resident, or being within 2 metres of a resident but not touching.

Visitors should keep physical contact to a minimum. Visitors and residents may wish to hold hands, but should bear in mind that any contact increases the risk of transmission. There should not be close physical contact such as hugging.

Essential Care Givers

These visitors must use the same PPE as members of the care home staff, and must follow appropriate guidance for using it after being shown how to correctly don and doff on a video or by a staff member.

It is important that these visitors agree with the care home what tasks they will and will not be undertaking, and that all involved are confident that the visitor has the skills to perform those tasks safely (this may well include risks not related to Covid-19 such as skills for lifting and handling). These visitors must also agree to follow any advice or instructions on IPC from care home staff.

Exceptional Circumstance

Visitors under exceptional circumstances would be expected to follow the same rules as “Nominated Individuals” above.

All

Visitors should also be careful to ensure they observe strict social distancing from other residents, visitors and staff at all times.

Conduct of the visit...

The resident can meet with 2 of their 5 named visitors at the same time, or over the course of one day. For example, during the same visit as long as the care home is able to accommodate this, or can meet with them separately if that is what they prefer.

An essential care giver is now included within the 5 named visitors, this is still dependent on the resident's level of need and is subject to the agreement of all involved.

Things to consider for multiple visitors...

Whether your care home would be able to facilitate the visiting of more than one household or support bubble for a resident, as all would have to follow social distancing from each party.

Clear guidance for people, when visiting at the same time, that are not part of the same household or support bubble, on social distancing, PPE and IPC procedures.

Communication with visitors that choose to visit on different days, as this may mean limited visiting opportunities for each party, in order to facilitate visits for other residents.

Visits involving children and young people aged under 18...

It is possible for someone aged under 18 to be one of the 5 nominated visitors, if the resident, family, and the care home all agree that is appropriate. Any visits involving children should be carefully considered by the family and agreed with the care home in advance of the visit, they (apart from babies and preschool-age children) will also count towards the maximum number allowed for the visit.

As is the case with visitors of all ages, there should be no close physical contact between babies or young children and the residents they are visiting. Children aged 11 and over should wear the same PPE as adult visitors. Children under the age of 3 should not wear masks, for safety reasons.

Things to consider...

Are the family able to enforce no contact for their children, will the child understand that they cannot go towards/touch/hug the resident during the visit.

Can the child, over 10, safely and correctly wear appropriate PPE.

If a test for a child needs to take place, it should be done with their consent and that of their parent or guardian, and you should follow:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/testing-for-coronavirus-at-home/covid-19-home-test-step-by-step-guide-adults-and-children#test-a-child>

How to manage visits...

You may wish to consider the following to support visiting at your home...

- ▶ A booking system to allow visitors to book their visits to your home. You may wish to designate slots or allow family members to select theirs from those available.
- ▶ Allowing time to prepare for the visit, time for the visit to take place, without rushing the family member or resident, then cleaning after the visit to decontaminate the visiting area (if required).
- ▶ Management of expectations; communication with family will be important, especially if there are a lot of family wanting to visit, as this will limit how often each person can visit the home.
- ▶ Allocating a member of staff to visits would then allow other staff to continue with their support to residents. It would also allow this member of staff to be available when needed by residents or visitors, potentially escorting the visitor when moving around the home to prevent wandering.
- ▶ A testing room that can be easily accessed from outside the home and then ventilated between each visitor or use of the room.

Decontamination...

Visiting areas must be effectively decontaminated before and after each visit. You may wish to consider:

- ▶ Fogging equipment as additional decontamination measures
- ▶ Wipe clean furniture
- ▶ Displayed cleaning schedule detailing when a visiting area was clean and by who
- ▶ Cleaning schedule should also include touch point cleaning and furniture that has been cleaned
- ▶ Where an essential family, friend and/or carer has visited a resident in a bedroom then the route taken should be decontaminated and clean after the visitor has commuted to the bedroom and after the essential family, friend and/or carer has left the bedroom and commuted out the building.
- ▶ In bedroom visits will also require cleaning of surfaces in the bedroom that the visitor may have touched as well as the nurse call system should that have been used.

All decontamination after a visit (including any changing areas) should be recorded, including the cleaning products used, by the employee facilitating visits and audited along with all other IPC records.

You should also allow enough time for the cleaning products to thoroughly dry between each visit.

Visits out of the care home...

Care home residents will no longer need to isolate on return from a visit out of their care home, including overnight stays. Care homes will need to conduct individual risk assessments to ensure visits out are not high risk.

There are certain types of activity where the risks are inherently lower and these should ordinarily be supported without the need for self-isolation on return:

- ▶ to spend time outdoors, such as a park or garden
- ▶ to take part in outdoor exercise not involving close contact with others

All precautions relating to COVID-19 (including social distancing) should be followed while out of the care home. Where residents are visiting out to somewhere with an existing testing regime, for example a workplace, day care centre or education setting, they should participate in the relevant testing regime for that organisation where possible.

Steps to mitigate risk when visiting out of the care home...

To support safe visits out of care homes and to minimise the risk of transmission of infection to care home residents and other people they live with in the care home, the following measures should be considered for all visits out of care homes:

- ▶ residents may be (but are not required to be) accompanied by:
 - ▶ a member of care home staff
 - ▶ one or more of their named visitors, and/or
 - ▶ their essential care provider (where applicable)
- ▶ residents may meet other people but should maintain social distance from anyone who is not one of their named visitors, essential care providers, or care staff and, wherever possible, should avoid close physical contact with those who are supporting their visit to minimise the risk of infection
- ▶ care homes should discuss arrangements with residents, residents' named visitors, or their essential care provider, in advance
- ▶ crowded places should be avoided
- ▶ visits to indoor spaces should normally be avoided (except, for example, for the use of toilet facilities), unless they are for work, education, medical appointments or where an individual assessment has determined the activity is necessary to maintaining an individual's health and wellbeing
- ▶ public transport should be avoided but travelling in a family car or private taxi would be acceptable

What happens during an outbreak?

In the event of an outbreak in a care home, the home should immediately stop visiting in and out of the home (except in exceptional circumstances, such as end of life, and for essential care givers for internal visits) to protect vulnerable residents, staff and visitors (see HERE).

Once you have followed the initial outbreak procedures and contact the Health Protection Team and local Public Health (IPC Team). Communication with staff, residents and family on what to expect and the impact that an outbreak will allow you to keep everyone reassured and updated on the situation at your home.

Family and friends should be advised that if there is a declared outbreak in a care home then visiting will need to be restricted only to exceptional circumstances such as end of life.

Where there is an outbreak of a variant of concern, inward and outward visiting will need to stop for at least 28 days after the last positive test in resident or care staff.
