

Developing a Workforce Strategy for Adult Social Care: roundtable discussion with regulated professions

In October 2023, Skills for Care announced plans to develop a workforce strategy for adult social care. We believe a robust and comprehensive strategy is key to ensuring the sector has the sustainable social care workforce it needs.

The strategy must be a collaborative effort, drawing on expertise and insight of the many organisations and people that have a stake in our sectors future.

On the 30 April 2024 we're convening a roundtable discussion with nurses, nursing associates, occupational therapists and social workers currently practising in social care settings. This will be an opportunity to hear an update on our work to develop the strategy and share your thoughts on what must be included and addressed within it.

Workforce Strategy roundtable discussion: Regulated Professionals (Nurses, Nursing Associates, Occupational Therapists)
